
Admissions to Detention in 2020: Changes and Consistencies

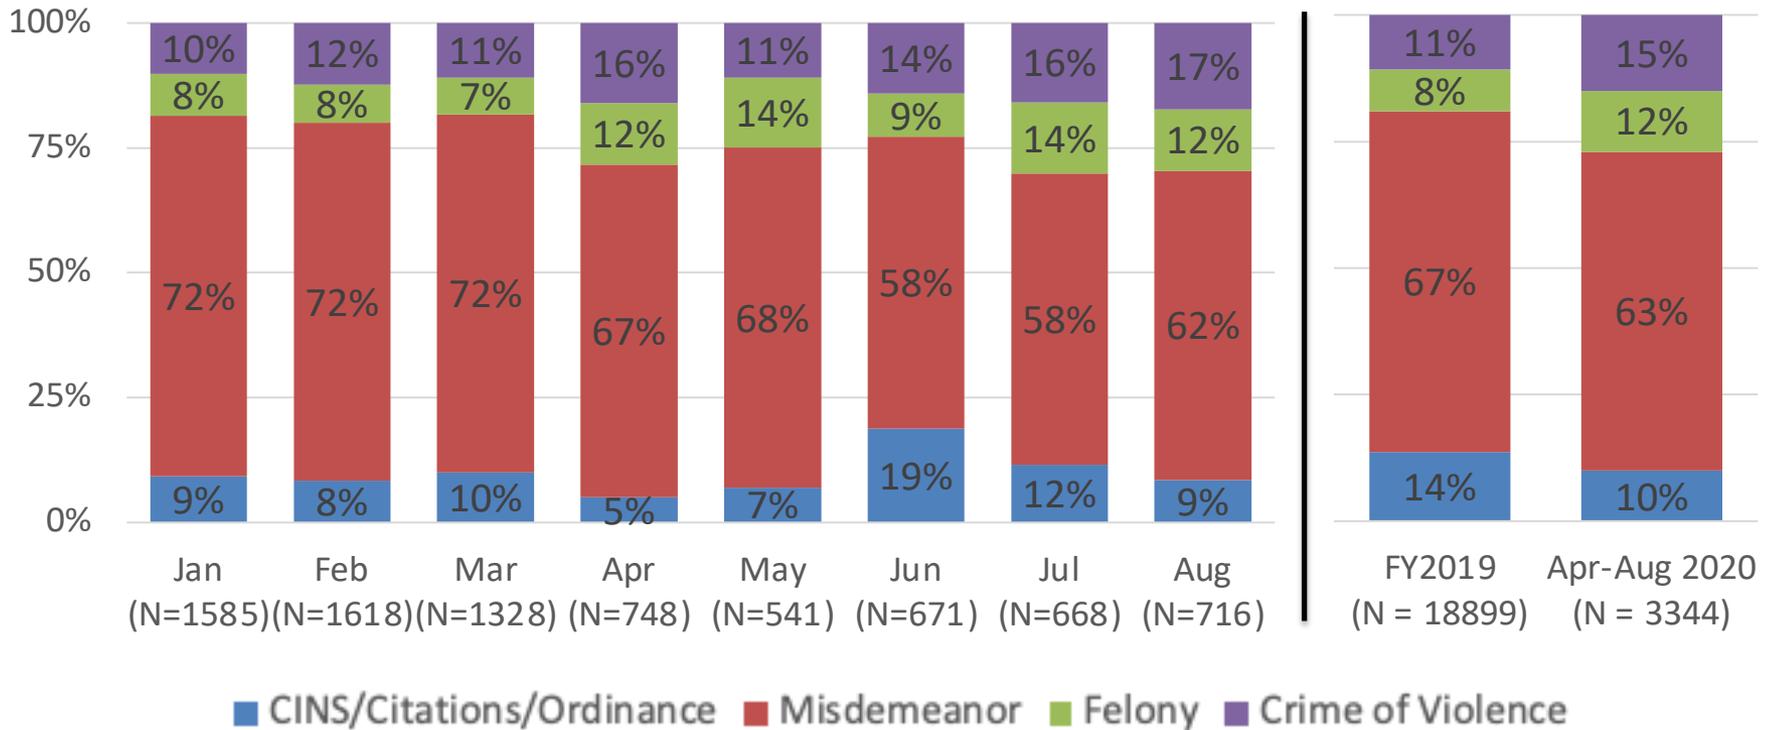

October 8, 2020

Complaints

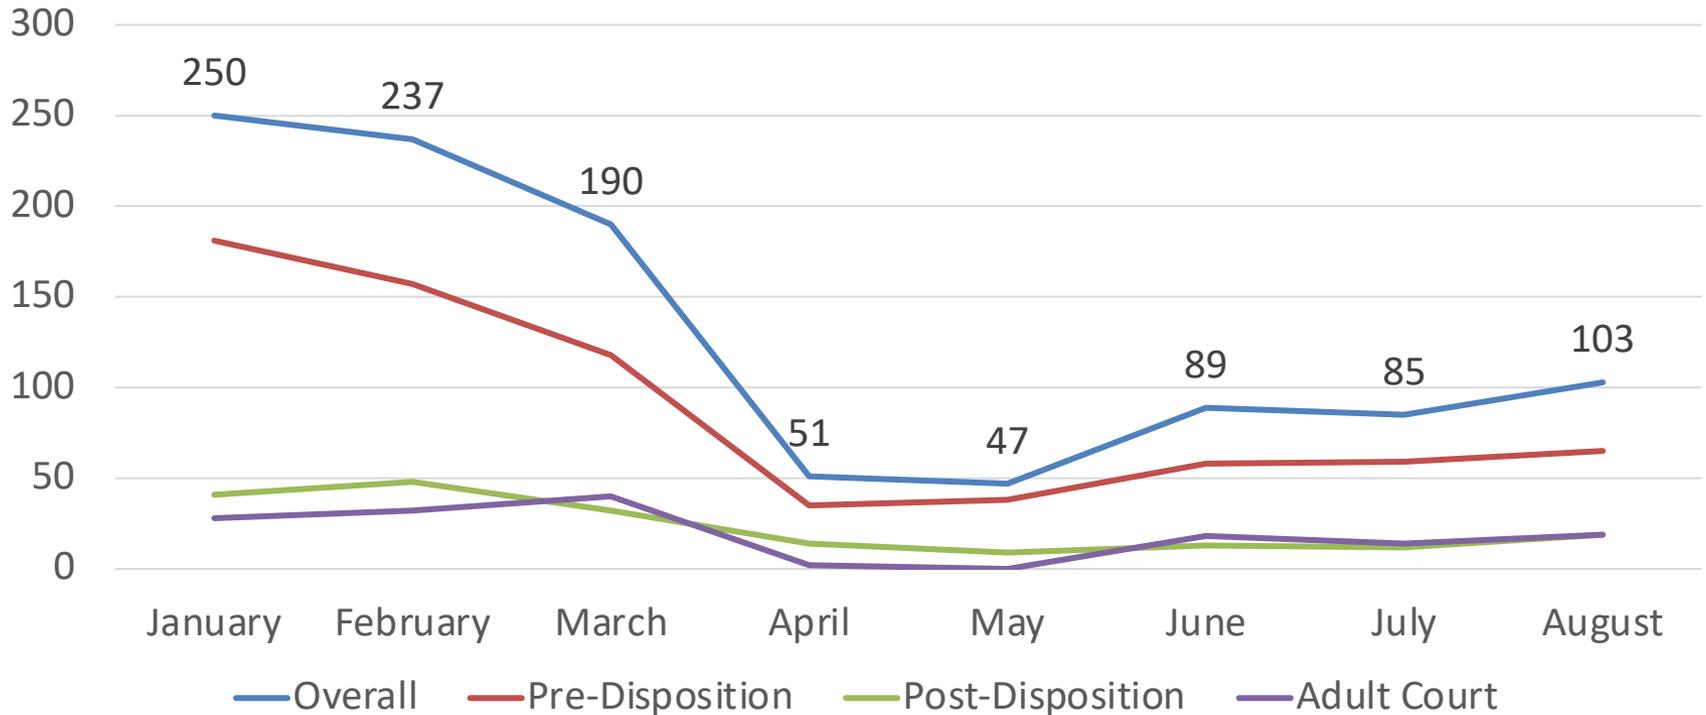

Overall, there has been a 56% decline from February to August 2020, though there has been an increase since May

Complaints by Charge Severity

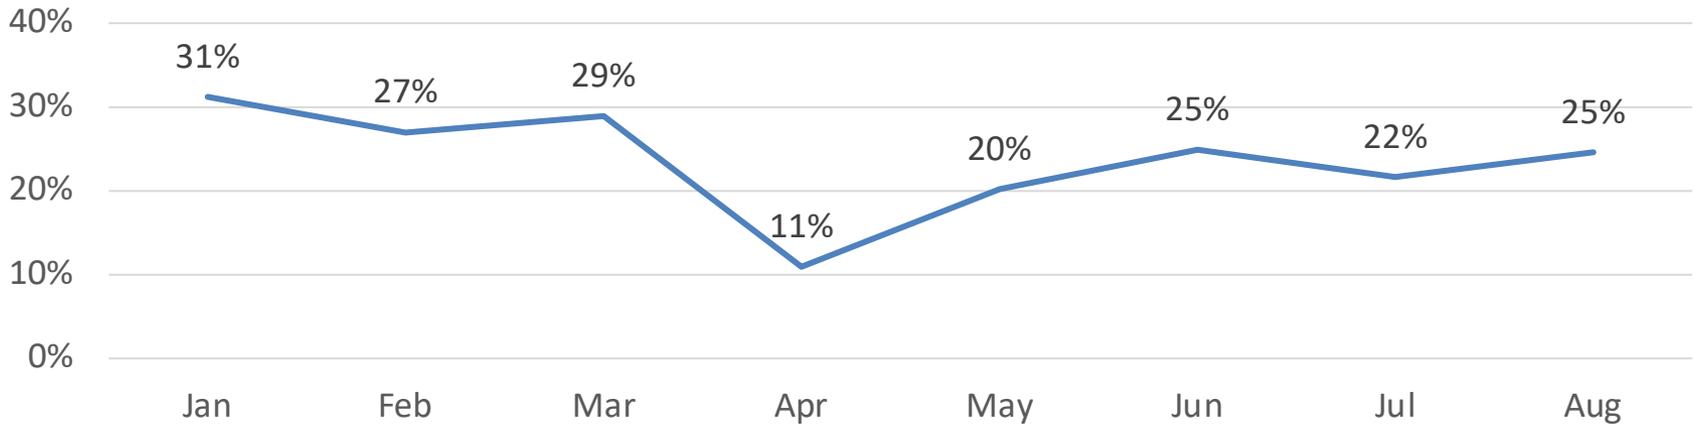

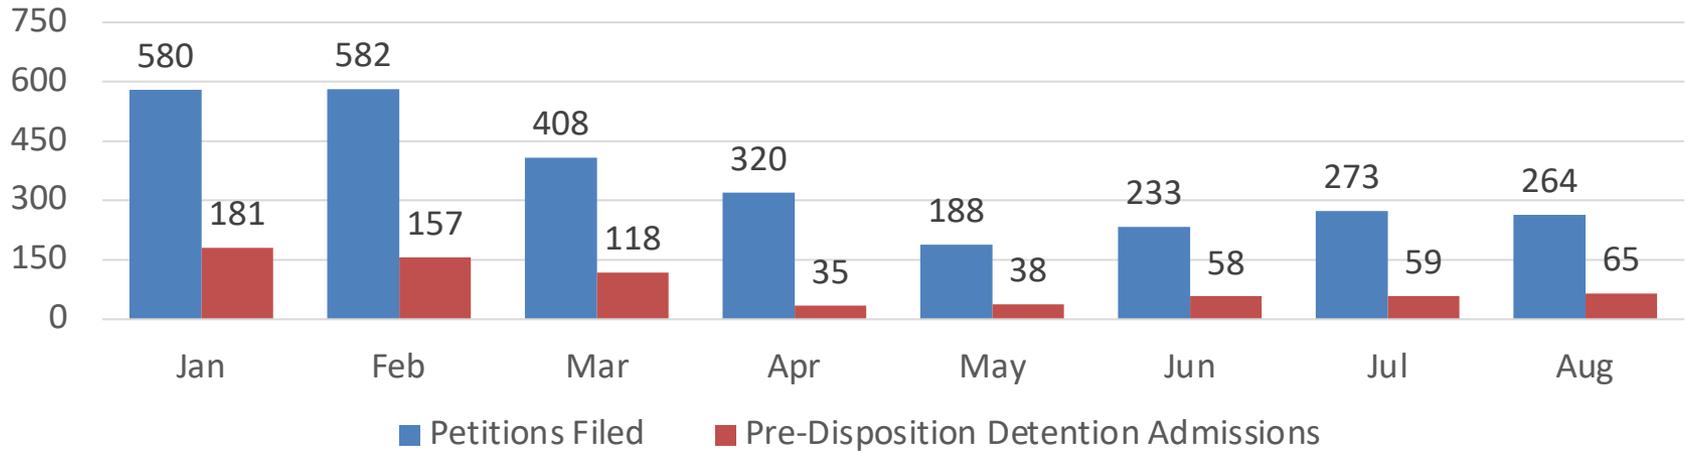

Crimes of violence and other felonies accounted for a larger percentage of complaints in April-August 2020 than in FY 2019

Detention Admissions

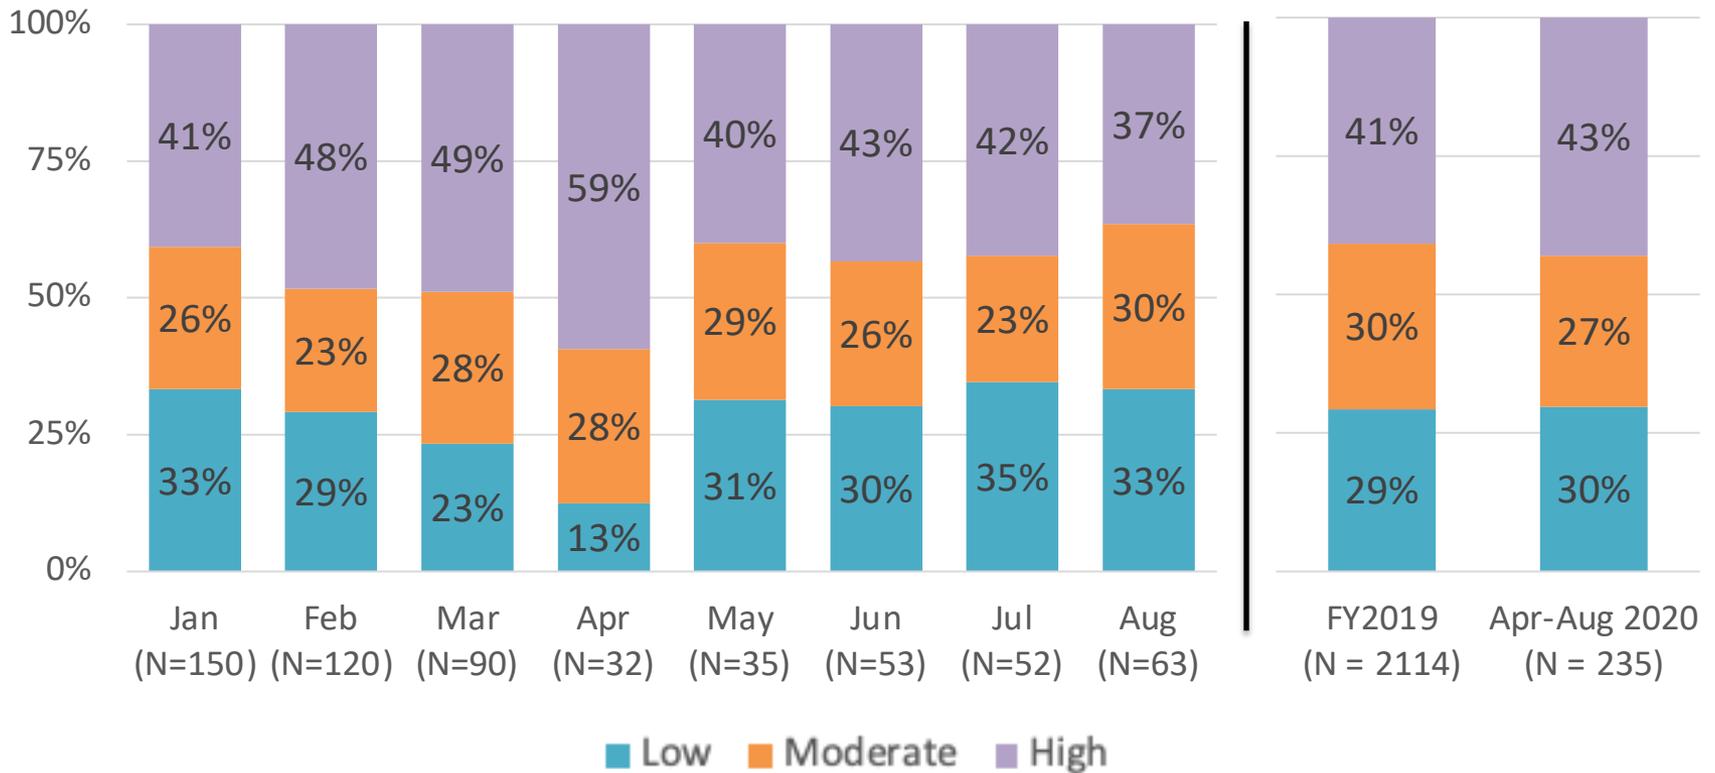

Overall, there has been a 57% decline in detention admissions from February to August 2020, though admissions have doubled since April

Pre-Disposition Detention Admissions as % of Petitions Filed

Note: Includes all detention admissions, not just youth detained for a new complaint

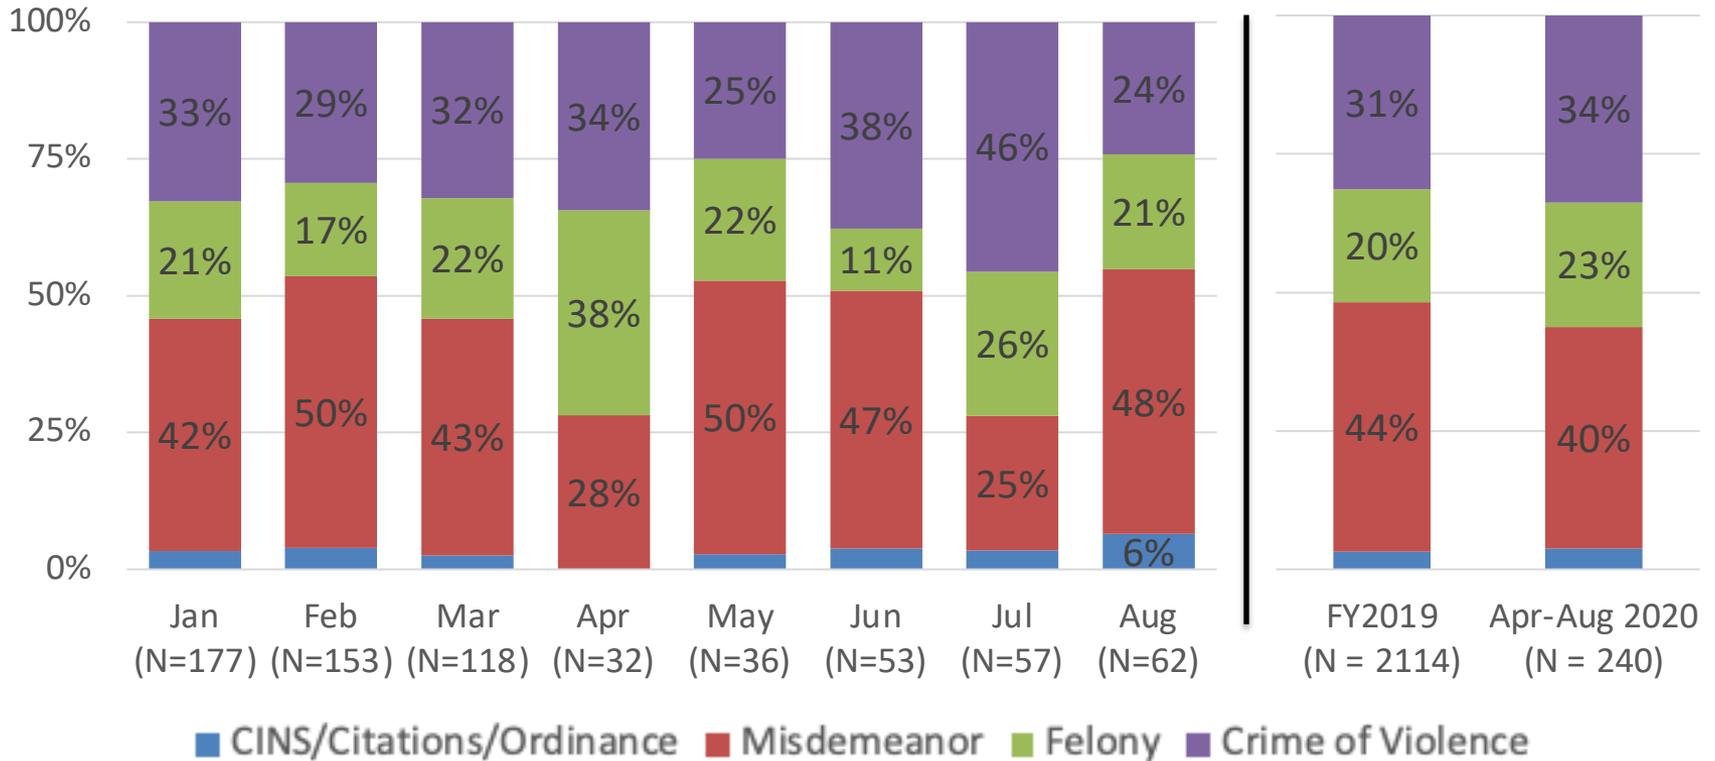

Pre-Disposition Detention Admissions by Risk

Pre-disposition detention admissions by risk in April-August 2020 were not demonstrably different from FY 2019

Note: Risk composition calculated as % of admissions with risk data (N); in 2020, about 16% in were missing risk data

Pre-Disposition Detention Admissions by Charge Severity

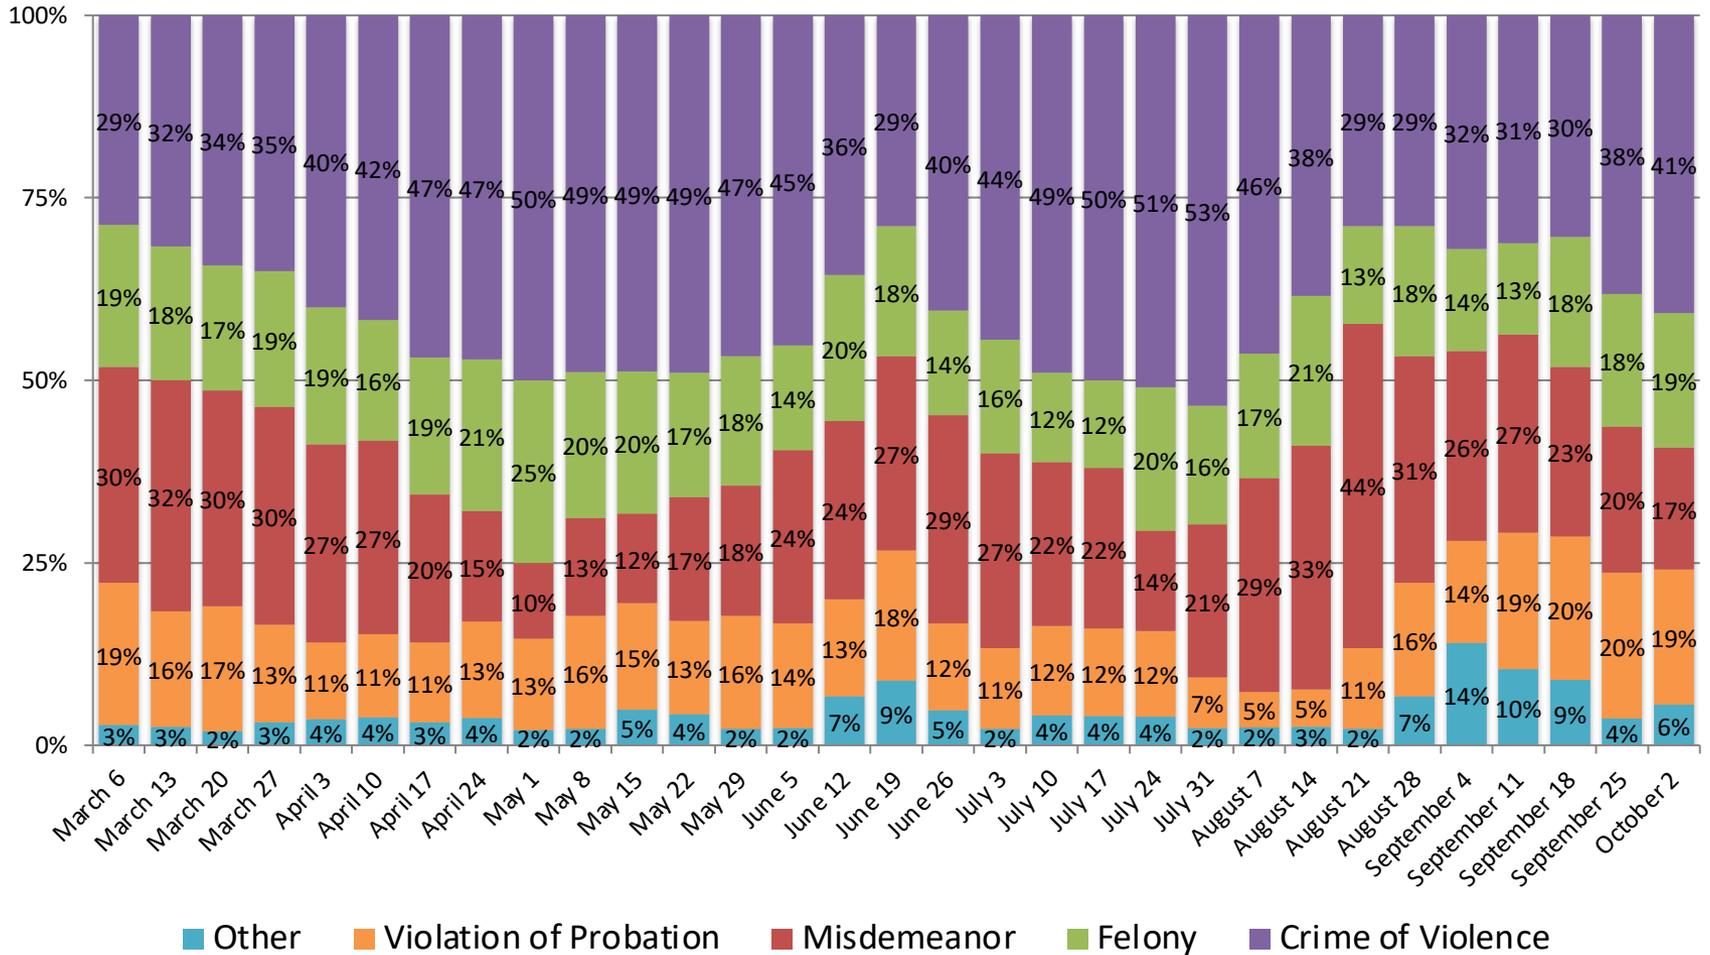

A larger percentage of pre-disposition detention admissions were for crimes of violence and other felonies in April-August 2020 than in FY 2019

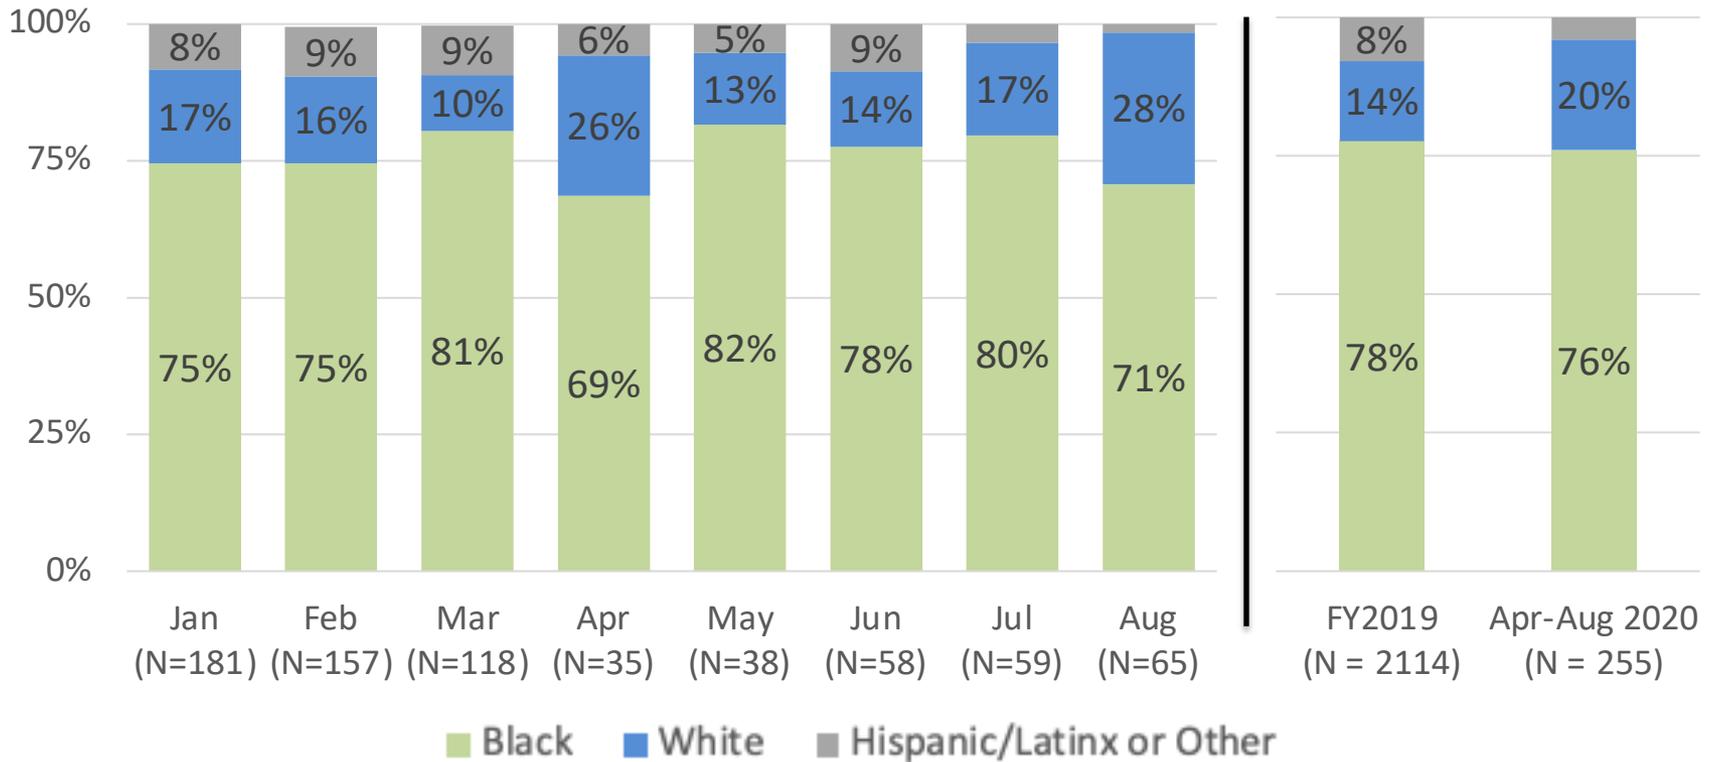

Note: Offense may not be the reason for placement

Note: Charge composition calculated as % of admissions with charge data (N); in 2020, about 3% were missing charge data

Pre-Disposition Detention Weekly Trends

Pre-Disposition Detention Admissions by Race/Ethnicity

Black youth accounted for about the same percentage of pre-disposition detention admissions in April-August 2020 as in FY 2019

Questions?
